

Dayaram Mistry

Programmer/Setter/Operator

I started at Nylacast in February 1987 as a centre lathe turner, and at that time there were only 45 employees and that also included office staff. I found working with nylon very different to the present day as at that time there were no C.N.C machines.

I was given the opportunity to complete a part-time training course on C.N.C programming which allowed me the chance to then work in the C.N.C Division and from that date I have never looked back. I have also worked as a shift supervisor during the company's expansion and have taught a few of my colleagues programming and setting and who are now doing very well within the company.

My knowledge and experience has developed over the past 21 years and I am looking forward to continuing working for Nylacast and helping them become one for the leading manufacturer of Cast Nylon.
