IT Analyst

Nylacast initially gave me an opportunity during my placement year from University in September 2005. During this 12-month placement I benefited greatly from the business exposure and it enabled me to apply the theory that I had learnt at University into my daily duties. I am confident in saying many of my academic peers would not have had as much practical exposure to IT as I had.

Having proved myself during my placement year the company offered me part-time employment during the final year at university. I found my final year of the degree program to be a very time consuming and Nylacast offered me great guidance and support.

After successfully graduating in Business Information Technology, Nylacast offered me full-time employment as an IT Analyst. Not one day is the same at Nylacast, which can range from one-to-one tuition with users up to supporting the whole company from a Technical perspective. The variety of work that I undertake has proven to build my skills and supplement my knowledge.

I am confident Nylacast has everything I need to help build what I envisage being a very fruitful career with the company. I am currently looking to embark on the Certificate in Management Studies course, which will be a part-time evening course. Once again Nylacast have offered to provide me with flexibility & continued support through my studies.
