Internal sales administrator for semi finished product

Nylacast is my first employer after being a 'stay at home mum'. I have been at Nylacast for nearly 2 years. I started off part time as sales administrator, doing filing, covering reception and handling customer calls. I worked in this position for approximately 6 months.

I progressed in my position and became a full time employee to our casting/manufacturing division at Thurmaston where I worked as a production administrator for 8 months; I enjoyed this role as I worked closely with the production team in getting the finished product out to the customer.

Using the knowledge I learned at Thurmaston I have progressed to internal sales administrator for the semi finished product. I enjoy my new role as every day is a new start, dealing with different customers within the UK, and internationally.

I feel that Nylacast is a good company to work for as they have, given me flexibility with my working hours as I have to look after my three children and coming to work now much more manageable.

I am thankful to Nylacast, as they have had the confidence in me to allow me to develop within the company and enhance my skills and knowledge.
